

FAQ

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 20 March 2013 07:36 - Last Updated Thursday, 29 March 2018 07:10

---

- At what minimum age can a discovery flight be made?

To fly in the biplane the child must be 12 years old for safety reasons due to it's tandem and open cockpit configuration. Nevertheless, it is possible to perform a discovery flight from 6-7 years old but on a more conventional aircraft like the "Pioneer 200" or the "Skyranger".
Under 18 years old : A written authorization from a legal representative is mandatory.

- Can I bring a camera or video camera?

Of course! You are welcome to immortalize this day... Be aware though that you will be asked to secure the device to your wrist or neck with a strap for a safety issue. In fact, it may make the pilot grumpy if he finds himself stuck with a device in the flight controls...

- What are the limits to fly aboard the biplane?

You should not be over 1.85 m (6.07ft / 72.8in) and/or 90 kg (198lb / 14.2st). Nevertheless, it is possible to perform a discovery flight above those limits but on a more conventional aircraft like the "Pioneer 200" or the "Skyranger".

- How should we dress?

In winter a warm jacket and a scarf will do. During summer a lightweight windbreaker style jacket is enough. In all case long pants and flat shoes are recommended (avoid short skirts and shorts, high heels prohibited). Sunglasses are recommended as well.

More to come...